

Environmental education for a sustainable tourism

Our Center offers a wide range of educational activities related to flora, fauna, geology, climate and astronomy, always tailored for all age groups. Mónnatura Pirineus sees education as a tool to teach nature through outdoor activities such as naturalistic tours, excursions to the National Park, wildlife observations, and through indoor activities such as workshops and conferences, which enrich even more an experience in the high mountains.

Our School Camp is to be taken under consideration: there are programs for every age where children are the protagonists of their own learning. Our programs are designed for 3 or 5 days on weekdays, but all is subject to change if needed.

Concerning children and teenagers, there are Nature Camps and Labour Camps throughout the month of July, where a broad program of environmental education and an entertainment programme consolidate a high quality educational challenge; it focuses on working towards the sensitivity to the environment, teamwork, sustainability, etc.

Not to be missed: programs for families with all kinds of proposals. Daily disconnection guaranteed while enjoying nature through many possible and different options to choose!
